Boring Speech

For Bart (Moneybags) ter gave another one of rindy speeches the other when he dedicated the town hall.

By fellow citizens," he said, "is always says on such occa- is, "we are very proud and py on this glorious occasion. e who came here years and ars ago know how much it olic and the young 'uns, to have our own town hall, where all of us can get together and run this town in the democratic way that we all love so well."

He went on like that for close to an hour while everybody was getting pretty impatient to get on home. Mayor Bulbatter told us everything everybody al- ready knew about "our fair- ned to be a center of Sacrée soirée en perspective !

"Ce soir, grand débat au saloon: Old Clanton contre Wyatt Earp. Les propos seront frappants, le débat promet d'être saignant. Pour soutenir notre bon maire, venez nombreux et armés. Cependant, les urnes électorales pouvant devenir des urnes funéraires, il est prudent de réserver la vôtre dès maintenant. Une seule adresse: Pompes Funèbres John P. Clum, Tombstone".

James Flood, William O'Brien, John Mackay and Adolph Sutro are gone, but their deeds speak for themselves not only in the pages of the history books but in every nook and cranny of Virginia City.
